Cooper And Morton Oppose Changes

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Sherman Cooper and Sen. John B. Morton Wednesday criticized the Department of Agriculture's plan to change the present price support of tobacco from its 90 per cent of parity.

Morton said in a speech prepared for delivery on the Senate floor he was "very much surprised to note that the administration has reversed its policy. I don't know why the Department of Agriculture has changed its position."

"Let us not kick over one of the few programs that is working out in a satisfactory manner," the Louisville Republican said.

Cooper said he was "vigorously opposed to any change in the tobacco program... it has been a good program. I have fought for the tobacco program in the past and I am ready to do so now and in the future."

The agriculture department announced a 10 per cent reduction in marketing quotas for fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco Wednesday.

Cooper said he was confident Congress would not change the 90 per cent price-support program "except in accord with wishes of tobacco growers themselves."

Way Cleared For Niagara Falls Plant

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission today cleared the way for construction of the 600-million-dollar Niagara Falls hydroelectric project.

The commission told the New York State Power Authority its four-mile waterway adjoining the project should be built as a "cut and cover" conduit.

The commission's decision, in effect, was a compromise between the power authority's proposal and one submitted by the town of Lewiston, N.Y., and the county of Niagara.

Last September the commission licensed the project but reserved a decision on the type of conduit to be installed and on the area of the reservoir.

A "cut and cover" conduit is constructed by excavating a channel and laying a concrete conduit, which is then covered over.

The authority had proposed that a 7,000-foot section of the waterway at the Tuscawara end be built as an unlined open canal. Lewiston and Niagara County proposed that the waterway consist of 6,500 feet of tunnels and 15,000 feet of "cut and cover" conduit.

In today's order the commission rejected Lewiston's request that the reservoir area be reduced by about 720 acres.

The commission noted that its waterway plan would cost about $171,400,000, compared to $145,700,000 for the authority's plan and $193,500,000 for the Lewiston-Niagara county proposal.

CHURCH BEES
CLAWSON, Mich. — Rev. Walter Ratcliffe, pastor of the Clawson Methodist Church, was willing to live and let live when a swarm of honey bees invaded the church steeple two years ago, but he objected when they multiplied, began to invade the vestibule and even the church, finally upset a wedding party. He hopes to collect enough rent in honey to pay for having the bees evicted.

Opinion Differs As To Why A Person Will Go Berserk And Kill. Killer Claimed Self Defense

EDITOR'S NOTE: Why does a 19-year old go berserk and kill? Until Charles Starkweather, 19, went on a rampage that left 10 and possibly 11 persons dead, he had been in trouble only for minor traffic violations. Starkweather claims he killed in self-defense. A criminologist says he wanted public recognition. The youth's father said Starkweather was going blind and had received a head injury a few years ago. In the following dispatch, a veteran United Press correspondent examines the evidence and opinion on Starkweather's mass slaughter.

By MURRAY M. MOLER

LINCOLN, Neb. — A noted criminologist suggested today that a "compulsive drive for dominance" and public recognition caused red-haired Charles Starkweather to go berserk.

The commission's decision, in effect, was a compromise between the power authority's proposal and one submitted by the town of Lewiston, N.Y., and the county of Niagara.

Last September the commission licensed the project but reserved a decision on the type of conduit to be installed and on the area of the reservoir.

Dulles Saves Conference From Failure

ANKARA, Turkey — The Baghdad Pact ministers ironed out a last minute snag over Palestine today and signed a final communique hailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' offensive in the Soviet economic offensive to the Middle East.

The ministers signed the communique shortly before 1 p.m. (6 a.m. e.s.t.), ending a four-day session in which Dulles' promises of aid appeared to have saved the Baghdad Pact conference from the brink of failure.

The last-minute snag was reported to have developed when Iraq — an Arab nation and a bitter foe of Israel — demanded that the Palestine question be included. Iraq wants Israel to retreat to its boundaries outlined in the United Nations.

Dulles told the closing session he hoped he had made clear that the United States "participates wholeheartedly in the commitments of the Baghdad Pact to cooperate for security and defense" under constitutional processes.

He also noted that U.S. participation was bound by congressional resolution which "authorized cooperation in the military and economic field and, if need be, by military action."

FOUR FALL 11 STORIES

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. — Four men were killed and seven injured Wednesday when one end of a construction scaffold snapped loose, hurling the men and equipment 123 feet to the ground.

The men were employees of the M. W. Kellogg Construction Co. They were building a cracking unit for the Texas Company refinery.

The workers fell from a height equal to about a 11-story building when bolts holding the 20-foot long scaffold sheared off without any warning.

Russ ICBM Ready By July

WASHINGTON — The Army said in testimony published today that Russia may have a 1,000-mile ballistic missile in operation by July.

The Army added that Russia could have "a very limited" capability at that time. There is no elaboration in the published testimony, but this presumably meant that the Russians would not have very many of the missiles at the start.

The testimony was given by Maj. Gen. Dwight E. Beach, Army deputy chief of staff, to the House Armed Services Committee last Thursday. A censored transcript was published today.

At one point, Beach was asked by Rep. William E. Hess (R-Iowa) when the United States expects Russia to have an ICBM in operation. The date in Beach's reply was deleted, but the following exchange was not:

Hess: "July of this year?"

Beach: "That is right."

Later, Beach said Russia's "first capability... and it would be a very limited one, would be in July of this year."

The committee also was told by Army witnesses that Russia is expected to have its 1,500-mile, intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) in operation this year.

The United States has been striking both ICBM's and IRBM's.

The first IRBM's are expected to be put into operation next December.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) warned in a speech prepared for the debate that if the nation must immediately produce more B2 hydrogen bombers and missile-firing nuclear submarines.

WASHINGTON — House investigators today sent some members of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) a list of "misconduct" charges against them and warned that their names would be barred to the public Friday.

Only those accused of wrongdoing were to receive individual statements. Names of those receiving bills of particulars were to be made public.

The charges were dispatched to enable those involved to prepare answers when questioned under oath next week. The special House subcommittee investigating the FCC and its other regulatory agencies voted unanimously late Wednesday to question FCC commissioners under oath on charges of "alleged personal, official misconduct."

The subcommittee also voted to forbid subcommittee members themselves with any of the staff's "confidential" reports.

The action was obviously aimed at stopping leaks to the press. A subcommittee staff report detailing charges against FCC commissioners was leaked to the United Press and some newspapers last week.

FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer, who has acknowledged receiving a color TV set from the broadcast industry, apparently was one of those slated to receive a list of charges. He also has acknowledged the industry has paid travel and other expenses for him and his wife at industry conventions.

Doerfer has labelled charges against him and other commissioners "inaccurate and misleading." He said it is legal for an FCC commissioner to receive a fee for a speech. As for color TV sets he said "it is not a luxury; it's part of our job to see how it works."

The subcommittee met today to hear Chairman Edward N. Gadsby of the Securities & Exchange Commission testify on his agency's operations.

Assessment Of Property Lower In Calloway

(Special to the Ledger & Times)
NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — A full-scale survey of property values has been made, covering Calloway County and the other counties in the United States.

It was undertaken in connection with the 1957 Census of Governments. There is now available a mass of data on the 61 million pieces of real estate listed on local tax rolls throughout the country.

In Calloway County, it shows the assessed value of taxable property, the average year is $14,305,000. This was not its true market value but rather the tax base to which local tax rates were applied. Generally, reality is assessed for tax purposes, at less than actual value.

Making up the county's assessment total were real property, listed at $11,716,000, and personal property, $2,589,000. Excluded were local utilities and other special property subject to state tax.

What do these figures represent in terms of people? In effect, they amount to an average tax base of $775 per person in Calloway County.

This dollar value is lower than that reported for most other localities in the State of Kentucky.

The average amount in counties throughout the state is $940 per capita.

The size of the tax rates applied to these property assessments varies greatly across the country. However, according to a University of Michigan study, the tax rate differences tend to be offset by the differences in assessment practices. Where valuations are high, rates are usually low.

The Census Bureau report discloses that the total assessed value of general property in the United States subject to local taxation is $280 billion.

O. L. McElroy To Head Easter Appeal

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — O. L. McElroy, Eminence, has been named chairman of the 1958 Easter Seal appeal for crippled children.

Oldham A. Clarke, Louisville, president of the sponsoring Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, announced the appointment today. McElroy headed the 1957 Easter Seal campaign.

As chairman, McElroy will spearhead the widespread activities in Kentucky's 120 counties which will participate in the statewide fund raising appeal to treat and train children crippled by a variety of diseases, deformities and accidents.

Dates for the 1958 campaign will be March 10 to April 6.

Ten, Possibly Eleven Die At Hand Of 19 Year Old Boy

DOUGLAS, Wyo. — Charles Starkweather, 19, "mad dog" killer of 10 and possibly 11 persons, was charged with first degree murder here today as a legal tug-of-war developed over his prosecution.

Meanwhile, the young marksman's only expressed concern was about his personal appearance.

Converse County Sheriff Earl Heflin served Starkweather with a murder warrant, signed by Justice of the Peace Harry Wise. It accused Starkweather of murdering Marie Colleen, 24, a Great Falls, Mont. shoe salesman.

Li. E. R. Henninger of the Lincoln, Neb. Police Department questioned Starkweather. Henninger said he wanted to find out if the young man had committed more murders of which authorities were not aware.

Charges Noncooperation
But Henninger complained that Starkweather's bravado seemed to be returning. It had vanished for a time Wednesday after officials shot holes in his stolen Packard automobile during the wild chase through Douglas.

Upstairs in another jail cell, Carol Fugate, his 14-year old companion during his two-state rampage with rifle and shotgun, emerged from the influence of sedatives given her after she was brought in Wednesday.

Call For Mother
But her state of shock seemed giving way to hysteria. She repeatedly called "Mom, mom!" from her jail cell.

Her mother is dead and was one of the victims of Starkweather's rampage, along with her step-father and half sister.

Two county commissioners, E. Robbins and George Cross, said they will try to get County Attorney William Dixon to waive prosecution so that Nebraska authorities may extradite Starkweather.

Opposes Capital Punishment
Complicating the situation was Gov. Milward Simpson's avowed stand against capital punishment. Dixon conferred with federal authorities in Glenrock, Wyo., his nearby hometown. The FBI has a fugitive warrant out for Starkweather, and indications (Continued on Page Three)

Insurance Bill Is Introduced

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A bill, which would permit group life insurance policies to be written on charges congregations in Kentucky, was introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

The measure was introduced for the benefit of all denominations by Sen. Scott Miller Jr. (R-Louisville). Under the bill the church would be both the policyholder and beneficiary for policies.

Premiums could be paid either by the church or individual members.

WIND DELAYS FIRING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Winds up to 210 miles an hour in the upper air threatened today to delay further any efforts to launch the Army's Jupiter C satellite missile.

No other major missile launchings would be feasible, either, if the high air currents continued.

NOTICE

The Murray Junior High basketball team will play the Mayfield freshmen tonight at the Murray High gym. Starting time is 7:00 p.m.

Cooper And Morton Oppose Changes

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Sherman Cooper and Thurston B. Morton Wednesday criticized the Department of Agriculture's plan to change the present price support of tobacco from its 90 per cent of parity.

Morton said in a speech prepared for delivery on the Senate floor he was "very much surprised to note that the administration has reversed its policy. I don't know why the Department of Agriculture has changed its position."

"Let us not kick over one of the few programs that is working out in a satisfactory manner," the Louisville Republican said.

Cooper said he was "vigorously opposed to any change in the tobacco program... it has been a good program. I have fought for the tobacco program in the past and I am ready to do so now and in the future."

The agriculture department announced a 10 per cent reduction in marketing quotas for fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco Wednesday.

Way Cleared For Niagara Falls Plant

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission today cleared the way for construction of the $60-million-dollar Niagara Falls hydroelectric project.

The commission told the New York State Power Authority its four-mile waterway adjoining the project should be built as a "cut and cover" conduit.

The commission's decision, in effect, was a compromise between the power authority's proposal and one submitted by the town of Lewiston, N. Y., and the county of Niagara.

Last September the commission licensed the project but reserved a decision on the type of water conduits to be installed and on the area of the reservoir.

A "cut and cover" conduit is constructed by excavating a channel and laying a concrete conduit, which is then covered over.

The authority had proposed that a 7,000-foot section of the waterway at the Tuscarora end be built as an unlined open canal. Lewiston and Niagara County proposed that the waterway consist of 6,500 feet of tunnels and 15,000 feet of "cut and cover" conduit.

CHURCH BEE

CLAWSON, Mich. — Rev. Walter Ratcliffe, pastor of the Clawson Methodist Church, was willing to live and let live when a swarm of honey bees invaded the church steeple two years ago, but he objected as they multiplied, began to invade the vestibule and even the church, finally upset a wedding party. He hopes to collect enough rent in honey to pay for having the bees evicted.

Opinion Differs As To Why A Person Will Go Berserk And Kill. Killer Claimed Self Defense

EDITOR'S NOTE: Why does a 19-year old go berserk and kill? Until Charles Starkweather, 19, went on a rampage that left 10 and possibly 11 persons dead, he had been in trouble only for minor traffic violations.

Starkweather claims he killed in self-defense. A criminologist says he wanted public recognition. The youth's father said Starkweather was going blind and had received a head injury in a fight. A United Press dispatch, a veteran United Press correspondent examines the evidence and opinion on Starkweather's mass slaughter.

By MURRAY M. MOLER

LINCOLN, Neb. — A noted criminologist suggested today that a "compulsive drive for dominance and a public recognition" caused red-haired Charles Starkweather to go berserk.

Dulles Saves Conference From Failure

ANKARA, Turkey — The Baghdad Pact ministers ironed out a last minute snag over a Palestine today and signed a final communiqué hailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' answer to the Soviet economic offensive in the Middle East.

The ministers signed the communiqué shortly before 1 p.m. (6 a.m. e.s.t.), ending a four-day session at which Dulles' promises of aid appeared to have saved the Baghdad Pact conference from the brink of failure.

The last-minute snag was reported to have developed when Iraq — an Arab nation and a bitter foe of Israel — demanded that the Palestine question be included. Iraq wants Israel to retreat to its boundaries outlined in the United Nations.

FOUR FALL 11 STORIES

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. — Four men were killed and seven injured Wednesday when one end of a construction scaffold snapped loose, hurling the men and equipment 123 feet to the ground.

The men were employees of the M. W. Kellogg Construction Co. They were building a cracking unit tower for the Texas Company refinery.

The workers fell from a height equal to about a 11-story building when bolts holding the 20-foot-long scaffold sheared off without any warning.

Russ ICBM Ready By July

WASHINGTON — The Army said in testimony published today that Russia may have a 1,000-mile ballistic missile in operation by July.

The Army added that Russia could have "a very limited" capability at that time. There was no elaboration in the published testimony, but this probably meant that the Russians would not have very many of the missiles at the start.

The testimony was given by Maj. Gen. Dwight E. Beach, Army deputy chief of staff, to the House Armed Services Committee last Thursday. A censored transcript was published today.

At one point, Beach was asked by Rep. William E. Hall (R-Ohio) when the United States expects Russia to have an ICBM in operation. The date in Beach's reply was deleted, but the following exchange was not:

Beach: "That is right."

LaR, Beach said Russia's "first capability... it would be a very limited one, would be in July of this year."

The committee also was told by Army witnesses that Russia is expected to have its 1,500-mile, intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) in operation this year.

The United States has been striking both ICBMs and IRBMs.

The first IRBMs are expected to be put into operation next December.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) warned in a speech prepared for the debate that the nation must immediately produce more B2 hydrogen bombs and missile-firing nuclear submarines.

Assessment Of Property Lower In Calloway

(Special to the Ledger & Times)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 — The first time since 1942, a full-scale survey of property values has been made, covering Calloway County and the other counties in the United States.

It was undertaken by the Bureau of Census in connection with its 1957 Census of Governments. There is now available, as a result, data on the 61 million pieces of real estate listed on local tax rolls throughout the country.

In Calloway County, it shows the assessed value of taxable property the prior year was $14,305,000. This was not its true market value but rather the tax base to which local taxes were applied. Generally, really is assessed for tax purposes, at less than actual value.

Making up the county's assessment total were real property, listed at $11,716,000, and personal property, $2,589,000. Excluded were local utilities and other special property subject to state tax.

What do these figures represent in terms of people? In effect, they amount to an average tax base of $775 per person in Calloway County.

This dollar value is lower than that reported for most other localities in the State of Kentucky.

The average amount in counties throughout the state is $940 per capita.

The size of the tax rates applied to these property assessments varies greatly across the country. However, according to a University of Michigan study, the tax rate differences tend to be offset by the difference in valuations are high, rates are usually low.

The Census Bureau report discloses that the total assessed value of general property in the United States subject to local taxation is $280 billion.

Killer Of Ten Captured In Small Western Town

Ten, Possibly Eleven Die At Hand Of 19 Year Old Boy

DOUGLAS, Wyo. — Charles Starkweather, 19, "mad dog" killer of 10 and possibly 11 persons, was charged with first degree murder here today as a legal tug-of-war developed over his prosecution.

Meanwhile, the young marksman's only expressed concern was about his personal appearance.

Converse County Sheriff Earl Heflin served Starkweather with a murder warrant, signed by Justice of the Peace Harry Wise. It accused Starkweather of murdering Merle Collins, 34, of Great Falls, Mont., whose salesman.

Then in succession he asked for a breakfast of bacon and eggs and a bar of soap — to wash from his red hair the black shoe polish which he had used as a dye in a futile attempt at disguise.

Starkweather's bravado seemed to be returning. It had vanished for a time Wednesday after officials shot holes in his stolen Packard automobile, during the wild chase through Douglas.

Trigger Happy Man Shoots Five Persons

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Five persons, four of them policemen, were shot by a trigger-happy handyman before police caught him, from his barroom wooden shack Wednesday night.

All four of the wounded officers were admitted to the Atlantic City Hospital where it was reported two of them might lose the sight of one eye.

The handyman, David Taylor, 67, shot a neighbor, Charles Campbell, 28, and then barricaded himself in his rambling, four-room wooden shack for a gun battle with the police.

Taylor's shack was a natural fort, situated behind a clump of trees and surrounded by a brick wall. Four policemen were shot down before Taylor was flushed out with tear gas.

The four wounded officers were identified as detective Wilbur Spriggs, 62, and three patrolmen, Joseph Gasbarro, 47, John Masland, 32, and Carroll Perry, 33.

Both Spriggs and Gasbarro were wounded in the face and doctors say each might lose one eye. Gasbarro was also wounded in the right shoulder.

The neighbor, Campbell, about 150 yards from Taylor's shack, living room shortly before 11 p.m. when two shots blasted through the wall. Campbell was not hit, but when he went outside to investigate, he was struck by a third shot. He jumped back inside the house and called police.

Insurance Bill Is Introduced

FRANKFORT — A bill, which would permit group life insurance policies to be written on charges congregations in Kentucky, was introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

The measure was introduced for the benefit of all denominations by Sen. Scott Miller Jr. (R-Louisville). Under the bill the church would be both the policyholder and beneficiary for policies.

Premiums could be paid either by the church or individual members.

WIND DELAYS FIRING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Winds up to 210 miles an hour in the upper air threatened today to delay further any efforts to launch the Army's Jupiter C satellite missile.

No other major missile launchings would be feasible, either, if the high air currents continued.

Wyming authorities showed they were "not cooperating," because he was not permitted to talk to Starkweather until today.

"Starkweather was roused shortly after 7 a.m. m.s.t. in the Converse County jail by Heflin, one of two law officers who ran the short and cocky young marksman to earth Wednesday in a bullet-smeared chase along a highway.

"How about my cowboy boots back?" asked Starkweather, who is wanted for a murder of a shoe salesman here and 9 or 10 killings in and around Lincoln, Neb.

Then in succession he asked for a breakfast of bacon and eggs and a bar of soap — to wash from his red hair the black shoe polish which he had used as a dye in a futile attempt at disguise.

Starkweather's bravado seemed to be returning. It had vanished for a time Wednesday after officials shot holes in his stolen Packard automobile, during the wild chase through Douglas.

Upside in another jail cell, Carol Fugate, 14-year-old companion during his two-state rampage with rifle and shotgun, emerged from the influence of sedatives given her after she was brought in Wednesday.

But her state of shock seemed to be returning. It had vanished for a time Wednesday after officials shot holes in his stolen Packard automobile, during the wild chase through Douglas.

Upside in another jail cell, Carol Fugate, 14-year-old companion during his two-state rampage with rifle and shotgun, emerged from the influence of sedatives given her after she was brought in Wednesday.

Complicating the situation was Gov. Milford Simpson's avowed stand against capital punishment. Dixon conferred with federal authorities at Glenrock, Wyo., his nearby hometown. The FBI has a fugitive warrant out for Starkweather and indications

Claude Farmer House Burns Early Today

The large two story frame house of Claude Farmer, about one mile from the city limits on the Lynn Grove Highway, burned to the ground this morning about 7:30 o'clock.

The fire apparently started from a defective flue. Mr. Farmer said that he built a fire in a kitchen stove, then went out to his barn. When he returned to the house, fire was burning along side the chimney and had gotten out into the attic area.

Neighbors came over and helped remove a number of items from the burning house, however the intense heat soon drove them from the burning house.

The house was the homeplace of the Ed Farmer family. It was rebuilt in 1902 after it had burned and remodeled in the 1920s. It was considered an outstanding home in Claude Farmer's youth.

Part of the home still had part of the 1902 construction in it.

No one was injured in the conflagration which could have been much worse had the wind been from another direction. None of the outbuildings caught fire.

INCOME TAX FAX

Kentucky Society of Public Accountants, an affiliate of the National Society of Public Accountants

Pension and annuity payments come under one of three groups:
fully taxable, partially taxable and tax free.

There are two different rules for taxing annuity income. The first rule is the life expectancy method. The second rule is the three-year rule and applies where part of the cost of the annuity was paid by the employer and the employee will get back his cost within three years out of the annuity payments.

Under the first rule, each payment you receive is considered to consist of two parts,
—a return of cost and of income.
Only the part which is annuity and the expected return. The cost and expected return are used to figure a third factor, the exclusion ratio.

The cost of the annuity is the total amount of premiums paid. This amount must be reduced by any amounts received tax-free prior to the annuity starting date. The annuity starting date is the date the annuity payments begin or January 1, 1964, whichever is later.

The expected return is determined by multiplying the amount to be received each year by the life expectancy of the taxpayer.
The life expectancy is based on tables published by the Internal Revenue Service. Only these tables may be used. For example, if the tax payer is 65 years old, the tables indicate a life expectancy of 15 years.
If the taxpayer is to receive $125 per month or $1,500 per year from the annuity, then his expected return would be 15 times $1,500, or $22,500.

The exclusion ratio is figured by dividing the cost of the annuity by the expected return.
Example: Based on a cost of $9,000 — and an expected return of $22,500, the exclusion ratio would be 40 per cent. This exclusion ratio is the percentage of the expected return that represents a return of cost.

As the cost is to be recovered tax free and is excluded from income, the exclusion ratio is applied to all payments received during the year to determine the amount to be excluded from income. If during the first year $1,500 in payments were received then 40 per cent or $600 would be excluded as a return of cost and $900 included on the return as income.

Under the second rule all annuity payments are treated as a return of cost and therefore excludable from income until the cost of the annuity which was paid by the employee has been recovered tax free. All receipts thereafter are taxable income.
Some pensions and annuities are tax free. If you have any doubts about yours you should consult the accountant of your choice before filing your return.

SENTENCE TWO

BERLIN — East German Communists have sentenced two high East German church leaders to a total of three years and three months imprisonment and a $2,500 fine for smuggling currency. A Communist court in Magdeburg sentenced Kurt Gunbaum, president of the Evangelical church of Saxony, to two a $2,500 fine. Dr. Siegfried Kiewitz, counselor of the church, received a nine-month term.

Both were released on parole.

Barrel Shape Replaces The Sack Shape

By DOC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Wilbur, our office grouch, has adopted a philosophic outlook on the fad of bag, or sack, dresses in which mildly is charming herself.
"It is none of my affair," he said. "If women want to make ashes of themselves in sackcloth, let them go right ahead." However, the question of the bag may turn out to be academic. In the case of women's styles, now you see it, now you don't. The New York fashion showings a couple of weeks ago plumped for a gamsack look for American gals.

From Sacks To Sex
But in Paris, whence the sack shape sprang forth like a monstrous ogre last July and breathred its poisonous message around the world, the spring season showings this week so far seem to be the greatest reversal from sack to sex — since Roy Riegels galloped to glory.

Doubtless influenced by anguished cries from males in all nations, the Parisian fashion boys are said to be sacking the sack and returning to clothing

Oldsmobile Has Portable Television

Oldsmobile Division engineers, in cooperation with Delco Radio Division of General Motors, have developed an automobile television set for rear-seat viewing.
This set also may be removed for operation outside the car, according to Jack F. Wolfram, general manager of Oldsmobile and a vice president of General Motors. The experimental portable TV unit, installed in a 1955 Oldsmobile Holiday sedan, has been on display in several automobile shows.

"This unit, although it is a practical production design, is not yet available for sale," Wolfram informed J. T. Hale, Manager of Sales. "It is still in the engineering development stage, but it is such a unique automotive feature that we know the public will be interested in the progress made to date."

Chief components of this experimental adaptation of television, the XTP-1, are a receiver with a 9-inch screen housed in the rear of the front seat, a transistor power supply and a collapsible V-beam aerial mounted on the rear roof just ahead of the rear window.

Wolfram, enthusiastic about the future possibilities of this new development, commented, "In the limited number of test installations of this automobile television set, we have seen evidence that it could eventually prove a great boon to parents who take their children on long trips. We have had personal experience with our own grandchildren, who now are content to sit by the hour watching TV instead of becoming restless as children do."

The portable TV can be removed from the car by loosening a set screw in the base. A release knob then permits the set to slide outward from its compartment, when removed from the car, the TV set has a cord for plugging into any convenient 110-volt AC electric outlet. It also has a two-prong retractable aerial that can be extended several feet.

The TV set has three positions in the car. When it is not being used, it is neatly housed in its compartment that matches the upholstery in color. A hood above the set is raised and the release knob pushed to place it in the normal viewing position. With the screen at a 45-degree angle to the car floor. For tuning, the set is in the fully extended position from the compartment.
With the screen vertical and the conventional TV controls displayed on top of the set.

The screen cannot be seen from the driver's seat, thus conforming with the safety code in several states.
The set is operated in the automobile by a small power supply unit which converts the 12-volt DC power from the car's battery into AC current of several hundred volts for operating the picture tube. A plug and jack in the rear of the set provide the connection with the power source. Two built-in relays automatically switch the receiver controls when the set is removed from the car.

that shows signs of what's underneath it.

However, in Italy there's still bad news. The Italian fashions, instead of reverting themselves to something more form-fitting, have progressed right through the sack onward and outward into a thing called the barrel shape. It looks something like a plump standing on end.

What Of The Future?
So much for the cloudy present. What of the future?
A New York firm put on a show recently in which it attempted to project what a ladies retail clothing department might look like 10 years from now.

Three predictions were notable.
One was the idea that a decade from now women might be fitted by radar.

Another was the suggestion that a brassiere might be manufactured on a do-it-yourself basis — applied in a spray-on from an aerosol bottle and removable by washing.
The third idea was an electronic cash register with its tendrils in all phases of the business, able to tell the proprietor not only the current sale but also keeping track of the stock sold and how much is left.

CAR SUGGESTION

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. —
Wilbur Jones, Florida Road Department board chairman, says he has written the nation's three largest automobile manufacturers and asked them to in-the motoring citizens of the U.

S. would appreciate such cooperation of the automobile industry in helping to make America more beautiful," Jones said.

Unbeaten Team To See Action Tonight

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Two of the nation's three top individual scorers and its only remaining major unbeaten team see action tonight when the college basketball schedule starts to pick up after mid-year exams.

Oscar Robertson will be trying to hold his water-thin scoring lead over Bill Chamberlain where Cincinnati opposes Miami of Ohio while Elgin Baylor, third in the scoring race, tries to keep pace in Seattle's meeting with Portland.

Robertson, the sensational sophomore enters the game with an average of 32.87 points a contest. He has connected for 493 points in 15 games.

Chamberlain is second in the scoring race with 389 points in 12 games for a 32.42 average. He could take over first place if Robertson is stopped cold tonight or he could slip back to third if Baylor has a great night.

Baylor has scored 393 points in 13 games for a 30.23 average.

Sharing the spotlight with the three-way scoring duel is St. John's meeting with the University of Pittsburgh. The New York Redmen, staging a fine comeback to national status under the leadership of ex-Celt ace Joe Lanchick, have scored nine straight victories.

The fact is, however, the Redmen are largely untested against top-ranked opposition and the experts figure they will lose two or three of their next four games — against Pittsburgh, Temple, Brooklyn College and West Virginia.

A not-too-tall but rugged squad, St. John's No. 1 problem tonight will be to handle Don Hannon, Pitt's 5-foot, 8-inch sharpshooter who is averaging 26 points a game.

Kentucky, the country's 10th-ranked team, whipped Georgia, 74-55, 15th-ranked Dayton, 74-59, and Notre Dame, tied for No. 19, beat Louisville, 73-59, in the top games Wednesday night.

In other games, Lehigh beat Muhlenberg, 66-64, Manhattan defeated City College of New York, 74-58, New York University triumphed over Fordham, 90-73, Duquesne tripped St. Francis of New York, 66-58, and Army topped Siena, 76-66.

Musial Will See Several More Years

ST. LOUIS — Stan Musial, for 16 years a hero of the St. Louis Cardinals, saw at least two or three years ahead of him today after signing the National League's first $100,000 contract.

Musial said he was in better physical condition than in the past several years.

"The way I feel now," Musial said, "I believe I can play for one or two more years after this." He will be 38 next November.

General Manager Bing Devine said it was the "best contract ever signed by a National League player."

"I would have settled for less," Musial said, "but the Cardinals wanted me to have this contract. I hope I can have another good year to justify it."

BEAR'S MARSHALL FINED

NEW YORK — Willie Marshall of the Hershey Bears, the American Hockey League's leading scorer throughout most of the current season, has been slapped with a $150 fine by League President Richard Canning. Broken down, Marshall was fined $25 for a 10-minute misconduct penalty against Cleveland, Jan. 15, $50 for a game misconduct and $75 for refusing to leave the ice.

Foxx Made Many Mistakes He Admits

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Jimmie Foxx sadly admits making "many mistakes" during his lifetime, but probably his biggest was keeping his desperate financial plight a proud secret from Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey.

Yawkey, a millionaire many times over, quite possibly the most generous man in baseball. His list of philanthropies is a long one. No one ever will know the exact extent of Yawkey's open-handedness because he prefers not to advertise it.

The widow of a famed baseball executive was only one of many who could testify to his generosity. She received a check from Yawkey regularly each month until she died. An ex-Red Sox player is another perfect example. Even though he was never a regular with Boston, lifetime scouting job by Yawkey after an accident ended his playing career.

Yawkey was not aware of Foxx's acute financial situation. When it was publicly revealed two weeks ago, Yawkey was hunting in South Carolina.

News of Foxx's distress resulted in 252 communications to him, many of the wires containing job offers of every type and description.

By the time Jimmie visited the Red Sox front office in Boston, he was a man who would make any offer the ball club would make against the number of outside ones he was considering. He was even a bit cocky.

Foxx decided to take the Red Sox offer, a coaching berth with their Minneapolis club in the American Assn. His salary wasn't announced but is probably about $6,000 a year. Also unnamed was a piece of advice given Foxx by a Red Sox official.

Campanella Is On The Road Back

By HENRY LOGEMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

GLEN COVE, N. Y. — Roy Campanella is on the road back. That was the substance of a dramatic bulletin from the stricken Los Angeles Dodgers catcher's bedside at Glen Cove Community Hospital today less than 24 hours after the 36-year-old baseball great escaped death by an inch in an automobile accident.

"Campanella's condition is somewhat better and the overall picture is encouraging," the hospital bulletin said early Wednesday morning. "His paralysis is unchanged but it could not be expected to improve as yet."

The bulletin, issued by Dr. Robert W. Sengstacken, the neurological physician who operated more than four hours on Campanella Tuesday morning, and hospital administrator Harry Gifford, said the stricken patient "remains on the danger list."

But hospital spokesmen emphasized the encouraging aspect of the bulletin in a clear indication that physicians believed Campanella had won his primary battle for life.

Dr. Sengstacken also said further bulletins on Campanella's condition will be issued on a two-a-day basis.

Whether Campanella, who probably is nearer 40 than his 36-year "baseball age," ever will be able to resume his baseball career remained highly doubtful. Doctors said it was "possible" he might play again, but Dr. Sengstacken qualified the statement late Tuesday.

"Assuming a complete recovery, he could not play ball before a year," Dr. Sengstacken said. "He's foolish if he tries to continue to play baseball, but he's not my patient and I'm not going to tell him what to do."

Dr. Sengstacken disclosed that the fifth and sixth vertebrae of Campanella's spinal column were "fractured and dislocated" at about the neckline and said the catcher would have died instantly had the injury been an inch higher. He said Campanella's short, bull-like neck played a key part in his escape from a fatal injury.

The doctor said Campanella later will be required to wear a "four-point brace" on his neck with a cup under the chin. He said no further operations were planned "in the immediate future" but conceded "there might have to be another one later on."

undergo, the greater his satisfaction."

Other authorities here felt that the murder spree began with the slaying of Robert Colvert last Dec. 1.

Starkweather, an ardent hot rod fan, had frequented the all-night service station where Colvert worked. Colvert was taken from the station, robbed, shot through the head, and left on a country road.

Father Suggests Theory
Authorities who believed Starkweather killed Colvert pointed out that most of the victims whose bodies were found this week had also been shot in the head. Police suggested, although no charge was filed, that Starkweather killed the mother of his 14-year-old girl friend to kill the others to hide this discovery to escape.

A different theory was suggested by the killer's father, Guy Starkweather, unemployed Lincoln carpenter and the father of six other children. He said his son had been warned he had a form of astigmatism that would cause blindness within a year, and this had been worrying him.

Charles Starkweather and Carl Fugate, his girl friend, had never been in trouble with authorities except for traffic violations.

were there might be federal kidnapping charges involved. Dixon disclosed Wednesday night that Starkweather spent in "hot" writing a statement which Heflin called a "confession." Dixon would not say what it contained.

He said Starkweather plans to call his father in Lincoln, Neb., today to arrange for an attorney.

At the same time, Dixon said he would file charges accusing Starkweather of the murder of Merle Collins, 34, a Great Falls, Mont., whose salesman found slain in his car about 10 miles from here.

Dixon said he would decide later today whether to press the charge or turn Starkweather over to Nebraska authorities, who want him for the slaughter of nine persons in the Lincoln area.

Both Wyoming and Nebraska have death penalties, but Wyoming Gov. Milward Simpson is opposed to execution in the state's gas chambers.

Starkweather, who had dyed his bright red hair black with shoe polish and worn side-swept glasses as a disguise, indicated he would plead self-defense, although evidence indicated at least three of his victims were killed in their sleep and a fourth was a 3-year-old girl.

"I shot them all in self-defense," he was quoted as telling a deputy sheriff.

He also absolved his girl friend of any connection with the trail of murders in his two-state, 525-mile flight from Lincoln in cars stolen from his victims.

Tips On Moisture Conditions Guide To Production

DES MOINES — Moisture conditions on May 1 should guide beef cattle production, according to an article in Successful Farming magazine.

A method of production developed by 50 eastern Colorado farmers and ranchers said Cattlemen should determine if moisture conditions on that date were well below normal.

Then, the article said, the beef producers should act according to the following recommendations:

Well below normal. Sell cull cows and bulls and 350-400 pound calves. Veal calves if necessary. Use reserve feed. Normal. Replace cull cows. Sell half of the 350-400 calves and increase weight of the remaining calves.

Above normal. Replace cull cows. Increase weight of feedlot calves to 600-800 pounds.

Wheaton Is Still On Top Of The Heap

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — The Wheaton (Ill.) Crusaders topped the United Press small college basketball ratings today for the third straight week but Steubenville (Ohio) was only 23 points behind the pace-setters.

Wheaton, which scored a triumph over North Illinois State in its only start last week, received 19 first-place votes and a total of 336 points.

Steubenville Gains
Steubenville gained on Wheaton by drawing heavy votes for second and third. The Ohio school received 10 second-place votes and an equal number for third.

Evansville (Ind.), which led the first week's ratings, remained third with an 17-2 record, six first-place votes and 282 points. The two perfect-record teams in the top 10, Western Illinois State (14-0), again switched places. Western Illinois, which lost fourth place to the Missouri school last week, regained that spot with three first-place votes and 232 points. Southwest Missouri slipped back to fifth with seven first-place votes and 215 points.

W. Va. Tech Remains 6th
West Virginia Tech (17-3), the only team in the top 10 with all-time victories as Steubenville remained sixth with 164 points.

Tennessee State A&I held seventh place with 130 points and a 16-2 record. Pacific (Wash.) remained eighth with 94 points. The team has a 9-2 record and received two first-place votes.

Boston University (8-1) again was ninth with 84 points. Texas Southern (13-2) advanced from 11th to 10th with 72 points. Louisiana Tech, 10th last week, slipped to 11th with 50 points.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRELEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — High school basketball is the answer to United States world supremacy in the sport, St. John's coach Joe Lapchick asserted today, and there's no possibility of Russia or anyone else "catching up" in the near future.

"Those extra four years are the reason that our boys retain their edge in international competition," explained the one-time skyscraper of the original Celtics. "It gives us an edge which, plus a superb level of inter-collegiate competition, figures to keep us on top."

Lapchick, a modest man who still calls "em as he sees 'em," figures that the five poorest players on our Olympic team could win the title at the international games in Rome in 1960.

English Teacher Coached
"It used to be that anybody at all taught high school basketball," Lapchick said. "They'd take the English teacher, as example, and tell him to buy a book and coach basketball."

In those days, he continued, the big boys who were too awkward to "move" were shunted to the sidelines because the "coaches" didn't know what exactly to do with them.

"Then we had the 'goon' period," added Lapchick, who coached the New York Knickerbockers for nine years before going back to St. John's last season. "They were basket-hangers. But today, with the four-year jump the big boy is being given in high school, the goon is gone and those big boys are really fine athletes."

Russia and most of the other nations have made a few coaching importations, Lapchick detailed, but "on the whole they're still in the teaching-out-of-a-book stage."

Perfection on the Increase
The difference in professional basketball just a decade ago when Lapchick first entered the cash rinks, is indicative of the overall increased and ever-increasing perfection of the game.

Bonus Pick Outlawed

PHILADELPHIA — The National Football League's bonus plan which gave each team a free pick of the best college talent once during the past 12 years is a thing of the past today following its abolishment at the league's annual meeting.

The bonus pick was kicked out of the window Wednesday night in a drastic move after the owners could not agree on a substitute for the draw-from-the-hat plan which Congress outlawed as a lottery at Washington hearings last spring.

It had been a happy spread-the-talent plan, instituted in 1947 on the premise that the top teams never had a chance at the standout stars because they selected last in the player draft. The originator was Curly Lambeau, then coach of the Green Bay Packers.

A team was eliminated from future draws once it drew the lucky number from the hat. The 12-team "span" was completed last Sept. 2 at the league's early draft when the Chicago Cardinals, the only non-winner to that point, chose quarterback King Hill of Rice.

Elimination of the hat draw was predicted, but it was expected that another plan would be approved, giving the team with the lowest won-lost percentage for the season the bonus pick.

But this plan failed to win owner approval. One objection was that two or more teams conceivably could tie for the low spot, necessitating the toss of a coin to decide the winner. However, the owners were so leery of the lottery aspects here, the entire bonus was dropped.

Of the 150 different kinds of sharks, only five are usually regarded as man-eaters.

American Women Are Healthier

NEW YORK, N. Y. — American women are just about the healthiest you can find anywhere in the world, according to prevailing mortality rates reported by statisticians.

Only the women of Norway, among the 19 countries included in a study made by the statisticians, have a lower mortality than those of the United States. In Norway the female death rate, from all causes is 64 per 1,000 per year; in the United States the corresponding rate is 69 per 1,000.

Although difference in mortality between countries have been decreasing in the last few decades, wide international variations are still observed, the statisticians report. For instance, the female death rate from tuberculosis of the respiratory system ranges from a low of 4 per 100,000 in the United States, Australia and New Zealand, to a high of 47 per 100,000 in Japan. Pneumonia as a cause of death among women also shows a wide variation from the 16 per 100,000 in the United States to the high of 53 per 100,000 in Finland.

Only in deaths from motor vehicle accidents do American women suffer the highest rate in the world, 11 per 100,000. The lowest death rate from this cause — 2 per 100,000 — is found in Israel.

"International data on mortality from specific causes are instructive, even though they are not strictly comparable," the statisticians comment. "The variations are influenced by the general level of medical practice, modes of certifying causes of death, and classification procedures."

HOLLYWOOD — Studio costumer Grace Harris didn't know when she left for location shooting in Nevada that she would become something of a portable wardrobe unit for at least one scene. That happened because two actresses liked her clothes better than their own.

costumes and borrowed several items from her.
Miss Harris was with the company of "Obsession" on a sheep farm near Carson City, Nev. The star, Anna Magnani, was just about to start a scene with co-star Anthony Quinn when Miss Harris made her usual check of the star before the cameras rolled.

The Italian actress stared intently at Miss Harris' twill, fur-lined parka. She touched it. "Grace, I would borrow that," she said. "It looks more like what the character I'm playing would wear than the coat I have on."

Bag and Earrings
Miss Harris, never one to quibble after accepting a point of view, gave it to Miss Magnani, who will be seen wearing it in much of the picture's action.

Miss Magnani began staring again at Miss Harris.
"I know," said Miss Harris, "I have in character also," the dark-haired actress said. "Please, let me borrow that also."

Miss Harris surrendered her bag.
The costumer thought this business was all over for the day until she noticed Lili Valente staring at her during a lull. It was the same old story.

"Grace, could I please borrow your gold-hooked earrings?" Miss Valente asked. "There's something about them that's so right for my role of the sister-in-law."

"I know," said Miss Harris with a sigh. "Certainly — here, take them. But the next time we come out here I'm going to bill Paramount for rental of my own costumes."

REJECTS NICKERSON RECALL

WASHINGTON — The White House has rejected a congressman's suggestion that it recall Army missile expert Col. John C. Nickerson from "exile" in Panama to help this country in the international missile race. Rep. John C. Watts (D-Ky.) said he asked President Eisenhower Dec. 31 to recall the court-martialed officer and put him to work where he could be most effective. Watts said the White House turned down his proposal.

HOLED UP—A tarp covers the hole where a jet trainer (wreckage on ground) smashed into this house in Winchester, Mass., after colliding with another jet at some 500 mph 22,000 feet over Boston. Two USAF flyers in one jet were killed, and two in the other parachuted down. A woman had left the room in this house just before the jet smashed through the wall. (International Soundphoto)

Major Revision In State's Code Of Health In Bills

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A major revision in the commonwealth's code of public health laws is contained in a series of bills introduced in the Senate Tuesday night by Sen. J. D. Johnson (D-Pike), a physician.

The 11 bills, prepared by the legal staff of the state Department of Health, touch on cosmetics, plumbing, nursing homes, hotels, narcotics, slaughter houses, restaurants, barbiturates, and statistics on marriage, divorce and adoption.

Some of the effects of the bills would include:

The reorganization of local boards of health to permit lay persons to serve with physicians in counties which do not have as many as three doctors.

Create a division of vital statistics to collect and index information on births, marriages, deaths and adoptions.

Require the registration of births and deaths by a county health department.

Amend laws for licensing of hotels, rooming houses, restaurants, nursing homes and homes for invalids and aged to require more strict compliance with fire regulations.

Amendment of laws requiring licensing of slaughter houses and regulating meat inspection.

Provide more strict penalties for the unauthorized sale of narcotics.

Bring state laws into closer conformity with the federal Pure Food and Drug Act in regard to foods, drugs, cosmetics, and so-called health devices.

Extend the state plumbing code to include counties containing cities of the third class.

Other proposed legislation tossed into the hopper by senators and representatives Tuesday included:

A bill establishing a rural Kentucky dental scholarship fund to consist of 10 $1,500 annual grants.

A bill establishing state advisory council for medical care for indigents to administer a health program for poor persons.

A bill to earmark tax revenues from non-profit racetracks for the Kentucky Crippled Children's Commission.

A bill increasing the fine for littering public highways from $50 to $500.

A bill to levy a 3 per cent tax on retail sales to finance a veterans' bonus.

A measure to increase retirement and disability payments to teachers by 30 per cent.

A bill to authorize the investment of teachers' retirement fund moneys in investments secured by the commonwealth, such as the state highway bonds.

A bill to raise the fee for optometrists from $10 to $30 annually.

A measure to lower the maximum interest rates charged by small loan firms.

A bill to establish central issuance of driver's licenses in the Department of Public Safety.

A measure to permit the use of seines to remove rough fish from rivers when done under the supervision of a conservation officer.

A measure to establish a $1 per hour minimum wage in Kentucky.

Science In Study Of Sex Meaning

By DELOS SMITH

United Press Science Editor.

NEW YORK — Scientific efforts to understand the full meanings of sex have now reached the point where a scientist can rightly say whenever the sex of an individual is specified, "what sex do you mean?"

Science has now shown that any individual has (1) genetic sex; (2) gonadal sex; (3) anatomical sex; (4) hormonal sex; (5) social sex and (6) psychological sex. Fortunately, in most all individuals all these "sexes" agree and the individual is indubitably male or female.

But there are exceptions, and these exceptions are stimulating scientific thought and investigation. As the international technical journal, "The Lancet," points out: "Results as any (sex) level out: 'Results are equivocal, and when unequivocal they may disagree with equally unequivocal results at any other level.'"

The case in point in current scientific discussion is that of an infant taken to Drs. J. B. Ashley and C. H. Jones of Liverpool at the age of 10 days because of "doubts about the true sex." The doctors have reported their bewilderment both at a science meeting and to "The Lancet."

Some Doubts Arose

The doubts arose from an anomaly at the gonadal sex level which turned out to be quite minor. In hormonal and anatomical sexes, examination proved that the infant was most definitely female. Social and psychological sexes are not measurable in infants of course.

But in genetic sex, this infant was as definitely male. Here it must be explained that the identification of genetic sex is a rather recent triumph of science. It has been shown that the nuclei of female body cells contain "drum sticks" not found in male cells. Genetic sex is the sex determined in the union of the chromosomes of the male and female germ cells.

The infant is of scientific interest because science can now determine the genetic sex of individuals. But there is no further knowledge until she grows up. The doctors remarked: "It will be interesting to see whether this child attains a normal stature and has a normal puberty."

FOR THE KIDS—James P. Stiles, Jr., new national director of the Treasury's savings bond division, holds a baker's dozen $50 bonds he bought for each of 13 grandchildren. He purchased them right after being sworn in in Washington. Stiles, from Chicago, is retired chairman of Abbott Laboratories. (International)

Opinion Differs As To Hair Style For Modern Girl

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Women's Editor.

NEW YORK — That girl with the "curl down the middle of her forehead no longer is fashionable. Now, she wears a bang, a wispy, or what on stylist called "ribbon-y strands."

Hairdressers, looking into the shape and length of coiffures for the new year, predicted everything from cap smooth to downright tousled. It depends on which hairdresser is forecasting.

But there seems general agreement that waves will rule. The curly look is out, hair will remain short and American women won't take to the "eggbeater" look which originated in Paris, unless it is modified.

Long Vs Short

"One thing is sure. Women can't wear long, drippy hair with the chemise silhouette and short-skirts of the 'New Look' again," said Ruel, styles director for Coiffures Americana, which operates a chain of salons in department stores.

His shops will feature a 1958 interpretation of the 1920s look, with uneven wisps of hair brushed onto the forehead. Ruel said hair will be ear-to-ear length, fuller at the sides, and will have some height at the crown. It will be cut in layers for that ribbon effect.

Waves Predicted

The Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn. predicted "Waves—Lots of them." Bangs will continue it said. Its members will feature "cleaner, smoother hairdo than last year's," with an upward lift to the "lines."

"Hair styles will have to stress femininity this year, to combat some of the shapeless clothes," said a spokesman.

By contrast, it is the tousled look for Charles of the Ritz, as the hard-to-keep late Amelia Earhart wore," said a spokesman. "Short, with softness around the face, however. Very little curl, some wave, and smooth at the crown."

Wisconsin has an average of 3.72 tornadoes annually.
